Levels A1, A2, B1

Language study (18 hours per fortnight)

A1, A2, B1

The purpose of this course is to discover the basic structures of spoken and written language through oral comprehension, oral expression, written comprehension, and written expression activities.

Phonetics (9 hours per fortnight)

A1, A2, B1

The phonetics course is based on activities relating to phonetic exactness, written and spoken forms, and repeating dialogues and/or grammatical exercises on structures studied in the language study course.

Civilisation (14 hours per fortnight)

A1, A2, B1

The purpose of the civilisation course is to help students in a few everyday life situations and to make them aware of the realities of daily cultural life in France. The course emphasises oral production activities, drawing especially on the three-week cultural programme.

LEVELS B2, C1, and C2

B2, C1, C2

The purpose of this course is to deepen students' knowledge of the structures of written and spoken language through oral comprehension, oral expression, written comprehension, and written expression activities.

Phonetics (9 hours per fortnight)

B2, C1, C2

This laboratory course is based on activities relating to phonetic exactness, written and spoken forms, and repeating dialogues and/or grammatical exercises on structures studied in the language study course.

French for university purposes (14 hours per fortnight)

B2, C1, C2

The purpose of this course is to familiarise students with French university life in Rennes and to discover how to go about studying in a French university. It also seeks to provide students with the methodological skills required to follow university courses.
